

During my presidency I have been able to achieve:

- Uni 101: I created an interactive lecture for first year students and a video that helped students identify where to go on campus
- Was the first to introduce Facebook live sessions and in-line bbq interviews.
- Created the Week 3 Slump that highlighted all the student services on campus during one of the most stressful weeks for first years on campus
- After a rocky relationship from 2016's president, I was able to build the bridges between MAWSA and NZUSA and TIB (Thursday in Black) which has seen the 2018 president Emma Pearce be welcomed with open arms.
- Was able to co-opt in executive members swiftly when the roles were empty
- Established the Student Volunteer Army which will be the small foundations of something bigger to come!
- Ran my first successful Student forum and SGM
- Met with new SJS CEO Tim Allen and Chris Cason to talk about improvements to the way our partnership works and continues.
- Became part of the Student Success Panel with Sarah Leberman. For 2017 this solely focused on figuring out what students saw success as, and then having us create a project that was focused around their answers.
- I was able to get NZ Blood on Campus for 2017 and achieved record numbers for Massey University in Wellington with 73 whole blood donations.
- Suggested ways to make the last few weeks of the semester stress-free.
- Was behind the change of the blue MAWSA logo to pink on Pink Shirt Day.
- Suggested that the MAWSA ball should be on one night and include every year group which turned out to be a massive success!
- Negotiated the student service levy to benefit all students with Deanna (campus Registrar)
- Was able to establish small connections with Kokiri Ngatahi near the end of 2017 so that the student campus groups can be a strong voice together. This connection should grow and be a key focus to continue into the future years.

- Was able to keep mutual ground between EXMSS and MAWSA (There is a long history of EXMSS and MUSA not working, but I was able to play the middle ground between them and make sure there was clear air between them)
- Was voted in to be the voice of all student (MUSAF)
- Through negotiation with the Vice Chancellor I was able to achieve free counselling
- Attended campus health and safety meetings
- Was able to negotiate the SSL with the other two campuses
- Attended NZUSA's Student Voices Summit where I grew connections with multiple student presidents to build MAWSA's voice on a national scale.
- Would sit on Academic board meetings
- Was the student voice of the Kahurei Project which will help students get jobs at the end of their degree - Sarah Leberman
- Ran the communications of the HPV vaccinations on campus in collaboration with the Massey health centre
- Kept external relationships strong making sure that MAWSA's name wasn't in any bad light.
- Achieved no negative external press about the association.
- Once again, something that I am very proud of, is being able to achieve free counselling for the students of Massey Wellington!
